PROFESSIONAL BACKGROUND

A foundation built in corporate leadership

Before becoming a full-time entrepreneur, Prosper built a strong foundation in corporate America through progressive Human Resources and leadership roles — serving as a Human Resources Clerk, Human Resources Recruiter, and Human Resources Generalist.

These roles delivered expertise in talent acquisition, workforce development, employee relations, compliance, organizational operations, leadership, and strategic planning. The lessons learned from corporate leadership continue to shape the systems, processes, and growth strategies he implements across his businesses today. His transition to entrepreneurship was driven by a desire to create greater impact, expand opportunities for others, and build organizations capable of serving people on a larger scale.

Bridging traditional business and modern technology

As a serial entrepreneur, Prospero has developed businesses across multiple industries while maintaining a commitment to innovation, operational excellence, and customer-centered solutions — spanning financial services, technology development, business consulting, travel services, immigration support, leadership training, and luxury brand development. Recognizing technology's growing role in business, he founded Van Tech Systems to develop digital platforms, mobile applications, automation tools, artificial intelligence solutions, and business systems that help organizations operate more efficiently and scale effectively.
